Adeptus Custodes Codex

"These men are my bodyguards, their lives forfeit to the guarantee of my physical safety. Of their loyalty to me there shall be no question nor doubt. I, and I alone, shall have the authority to stand in judgement over them. No other commander shall they have in battle nor in service. None shall bar them from me and none shall hamper or stall their mission. So it is decreed!"

— Ancient declaration made by the Emperors of Mankind during the Age of Strife

Introduction

The Adeptus Custodes (The Guardians, Watchers of The Throne, The Thousand Companions) are the guardians of the Imperial Palace and the Golden Throne, as well as being the personal bodyguard to the Emperor. Due to the vast size of the Imperial Palace, the Custodes always act as a defensive army. It is the Adeptus Custodes that decide who may enter the throne room of the Emperor, and when.

As of M41 the Custodes themselves usually never leave Terra, and only rarely leave the Palace. However, with Abaddon's most recent Black Crusade and several other dire threats to the Imperium, small squads of Custodes can be seen fighting on the battlefield, often with a specific goal in mind. Much of their involvements go undocumented because the Custodes make sure that word of their presence on a battlefield is covered up, keeping their enemies in the dark about their true objective.

Organization

The warriors of the Adeptus Custodes are a department of the Adeptus Terra, the Imperial government, but its members are answerable only to the Emperor and their own leaders. The organization's leader carries the title of Captain-General, and due to the importance of the Adeptus Custodes he often holds a position in the Senate of the High Lords of Terra. The Custodes' nerve center and command & control headquarters is the Tower of Hegemon within the Imperial Palace. A small elite of three hundred Custodes, known as the Companions, form the Emperor's personal bodyguard and never leave his side.

The exact size of the Custodes is unclear. Some sources stated 1,000 while others say 10,000.

Appearance and Equipment

Generally, the Custodes are larger and much more powerful than Space Marines, however they are far more alike to the legendary Thunder Warriors, as they were created by a similar process.

Deathwatch is a highly elite force. Specializing in countering the incursions of aliens that threaten the freedom and lives of Mankind, they are equipped with unique weaponry to neutralize alien predators.

Deathwatch members are primarily volunteers from Space Marine Chapters that apply to join the Golden Throne. Because there are limits on how many Deathwatch members can be recruited, it is essential they follow a strict selection process. One of the primary steps of the recruitment process is to ensure that the recruits are loyal to the Emperor and the Imperium. The Emperor and the Imperium are the only ones who can recruit Deathwatch members. The Emperor and the Imperium are the only ones who can recruit Deathwatch members. The Emperor and the Imperium are the only ones who can recruit Deathwatch members.

As an alternative to fielding entire Kill teams, you may upgrade one or more members of any Space Marine unit, without using any Golden Throne. This is a process that is used to create things that are useful to the Imperium. The Adeptus Mechanicus are not just makers of things, they are makers of things that are useful to the Imperium.

- M40 Trooper with auto-sense link and Rictus enhanced bolts.
- Metal Storm ammunition.
- Indulge bolts.
- Rictus bolts.

This ammunition may only be used with a bolter or the bolter part of a Chain weapon.

When taken like this they also do not contain the Golden Throne or Golden Throne. This is a process that is used to create things that are useful to the Imperium. The Adeptus Mechanicus are not just makers of things, they are makers of things that are useful to the Imperium.
