Table 2. Acronym for evaluating critical events: A SWIFT CHECK

A SWIFT CHECK
Condition		Effects
A	Air Embolism	Hypotension/hypocapnia
A	Anaphylaxis	Hypotension/bronchospasm/rash
A	Air in the pleura	Pneumothorax
A	Awakening during anesthesia	Insufficient Anesthesia
S	Situation-Surgeon	Vagal/myocardial stimulation
S	Sepsis	Hypotension/acidosis/hyperdynamics
W	Wound	Trauma/hemorrhage
W	Water poisoning	Water overload/hyponatremia
I	Infarction	Arrhythmia/low output/hypotension
I	Insufflation	Drop in venous return/embolism
F	Fatty Syndrome	Desaturation/hypotension
F	Full bladder	Sympathetic Stimulation
T	Trauma	Bone marrow involvement
T	Tourniquet loss	Local anesthetic toxicity
C	IV Catheter	Mistaken administration of the drug
C	Cement	Hypotension due to methylmethacrylate
H	Hyperthermia (hypothermia)	Tachycardia/hypercapnia/arrhythmias
H	Hypoglycemia	Hyperinsulinism
E	Emboli	Thrombi/fat/LA/arrhythmias/hypotension
E	Endocrine	Hyperthyroidism/diabetes
C	Check-up	Right patient/right surgery/right surgeon
C	Check-up	Pre-operative evaluation
K	K+	Hyper/hypokalemia/arrhythmias
K	Sedate the patient	Whenever needed due to equipment issues (anesthesia machine)

4 Aes: Awareness; Air Embolism; Air in the pleura or pneumothorax; and Allergies or Anaphylaxis.

SWIFT CHECK: Quick evaluation of what the surgeon is doing (the position of the patient on the operating table and his/her physiological responses with regards to the surgical procedure).

Note: Adapted from Runciman WB et al. Crisis management during anaesthesia: the development of an anaesthetic crisis management manual. Qual SafHealth Care. 2005;14:156-63.

Checks before each case
Breathing system	Whole system patent and leak free using ‘two-bag’ test Vaporisers – fitted correctly, filled, leak free, plugged in (if necessary) Alternative systems (Bain, T-piece) – checked Correct gas outlet selected
Ventilator	Working and configured correctly
Airway equipment	Full range required, working, with spares
Suction	Clean and working

THE TWO-BAG TEST

A two-bag test should be performed after the breathing system, vaporisers and ventilator have been checked individually

i. Attach the patient end of the breathing system (including angle piece and filter) to a test lung or bag.
ii. Set the fresh gas flow to 5 l min<sup>-1</sup> and ventilate manually. Check the whole breathing system is patent and the unidirectional valves are moving. Check the function of the APL valve by squeezing both bags.
iii. Turn on the ventilator to ventilate the test lung. Turn off the fresh gas flow, or reduce to a minimum. Open and close each vapouriser in turn. There should be no loss of volume in the system.

Her work includes co-producing easy read information to support engagement, quality checking easy read information for colleagues, and promoting accessible communication. ... She has been involved in developing national guidelines for emergency care of young people with mental health problems. She has also visited other areas of the country to ... Anaesthetists must not use equipment unless they have been trained to use it and are competent to do so. These guidelines offer advice and information on checking anaesthetic equipment including: Procedures for checking anaesthetic equipment Checks for power supply, gas and suction Monitoring equipment Dealing with machine failure Checking the anaesthetic machine - It is mandatory to do a full machine check prior to the start of every list.
